INDIAN HAND BLOCK PRINTED TEXTILES

Crafted by Hand. Rooted in Heritage. Made for Today.

Indian hand block printing is more than a textile technique—it is a living expression of craftsmanship, culture, and human touch. For generations, skilled artisans have transformed natural fabrics into distinctive works of art using intricately carved wooden blocks, carefully mixed colours, and remarkable hand-eye precision.

From the graceful florals of Sanganeri and the earthy character of Bagru to the striking geometry of Ajrakh, every tradition carries its own visual language while sharing one timeless quality: the beauty of something genuinely handmade.

A Heritage Crafted by Hand

Each pattern begins with a wooden block, carved by skilled hands and pressed onto fabric one impression at a time. The process is slow, deliberate, and deeply personal. Slight variations in colour, alignment, and texture are not imperfections—they are the signature of the artisan and the character that makes every piece unique.

Naturally Beautiful. Thoughtfully Made.

Hand block printed textiles connect beautifully with today's preference for more conscious and meaningful products. Many traditional printing communities work with cotton and other natural fabrics, time-honoured dyeing methods, natural-dye traditions, and small-scale production techniques.

The result is a textile that feels authentic, tactile, breathable, and refreshingly different from mass-produced fabric.

Why Global Buyers Are Drawn to Hand Block Printing

- ✦ Authentically handmade
- ✦ Rich in cultural heritage
- ✦ Artisan-crafted rather than mass-produced
- ✦ Distinctive patterns with natural individuality
- ✦ Strong appeal for conscious and slow-fashion markets
- ✦ Beautiful on natural fabrics such as cotton
- ✦ Timeless designs for fashion and interiors
- ✦ A meaningful connection between product, maker, and tradition

Made for the Modern Global Market

Hand block prints translate effortlessly across contemporary collections—from apparel, dresses, shirts, scarves, and accessories to cushions, table linen, curtains, bedding, and lifestyle products.

Their combination of heritage, craftsmanship, natural beauty, individuality, and timeless design gives them a powerful place in premium, artisanal, sustainable, and design-led markets around the world.

More Than Fabric

When customers choose a hand block printed textile, they are choosing more than colour and pattern.

They are choosing human skill over automation, individuality over uniformity, and a centuries-old craft that continues to evolve with the modern world.

Every block leaves an impression.
Every print carries a story.
Every fabric keeps a tradition alive.

HAND BLOCK PRINTING
PEOPLE • CRAFT • A BRIGHTER TOMORROW

What makes it authentic?

- 1 Printing is done by hand
- 2 Wooden blocks are used
- 3 Registration depends on artisan skill
- 4 Azo-free colours are used
- 5 Handmade character is intentionally retained

This is an artisan-led hand block process — not digital, screen, rotary or sublimation printing.

1 Craft Heritage / Artisan Knowledge Context

The craft is carried through intergenerational knowledge and practiced skill in Sanganer.

Living heritage craft

2 Design Concept Begins

A collection starts with purpose, product use and market direction.

Bedsheets, curtains, table linens, totes and cushion covers

3 Motif Sketching and Idea Development

Buti, buta, bel and jaal-inspired motifs are sketched and refined for block printing.

Motifs prepared for the hand

4 Pattern Composition and Repeat Planning

The motif is organised into repeats, borders and layout relationships for printing rhythm.

6 Wooden Block Material Selection

Seasoned wood is selected to hold the design and withstand repeated printing.

Prepared for durability and clarity

7 Block Surface Preparation

The block surface is smoothed and prepared before the design is transferred.

A stable surface matters

8 Motif Transfer onto the Wooden Block

The approved motif is transferred in reverse onto the block for carving.

9 Hand Carving of the Block

Artisans carve the design by hand using fine tools and practiced control.

Precision carving

10 Fine Detailing / Clearing Carved Areas

Background areas are cleared and fine lines are refined so the motif prints cleanly.

Detail defines the print

11 Block Testing and Correction

The block is tested on paper or cloth and corrected before production use.

PEOPLE - CRAFT - A BRIGHTER TOMORROW

Why blocks matter

- 1 Each colour or layer may require a separate block
- 2 Carving quality affects sharpness
- 3 Accurate blocks support registration

Well-made blocks carry tradition forward, one impression at a time.

PREPARING THE CLOTH

Stage C — Fabric Preparation

CLEAN CLOTH. BRIGHTER COLOURS. TIMELESS PRINTS.

12 Fabric Selection

Suitable cloth is selected according to the product and the intended print character.

13 Fabric Inspection

The cloth is checked for defects, consistency and readiness before processing.

14 Washing / Scouring / Preparation of the Cloth

The fabric is cleaned and prepared so it can receive colour more evenly.

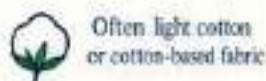

15 Drying and Smoothing

After preparation, the cloth is dried and smoothed before printing setup.

16 Cloth Laid onto the Printing Table

The prepared cloth is spread carefully across the long printing table.

Often light cotton or cotton-based fabric

Inspection before printing

A clean ground supports the print

Prepared for the table

Ready for alignment

Preparation gives the best impressions.

Well prepared cloth carries beautiful stories.

Why preparation matters

- 1 Improves surface consistency
- 2 Supports colour clarity
- 3 Helps achieve cleaner impressions

Care in every step builds a more beautiful tomorrow.

COLOUR FOR THE HAND PROCESS

Stage D — Colour Preparation

NATURAL HANDS. THOUGHTFUL COLOURS. LASTING BEAUTY.

17 Azo-free Colour Preparation

Colours are prepared for hand printing using buyer-approved or design-led shades.

Azo-free colours

18 Print Paste / Colour Tray Setup

Prepared colour is arranged in trays or on the printing pad for even block loading.

Ready for the block

19 Shade Testing / Strike-off / Sampling

Trial impressions are made to check tone, clarity and print behaviour on cloth.

Strike-off before production

20 Colour Approval for Printing

Once the shade and print quality are approved, the colour is cleared for use.

Approval before run

Colour note

- 1 Colour may appear different before drying
- 2 Testing supports consistency
- 3 Every print run depends on approved colour direction.

From the earth to fabric,
colours carry stories,
handed down with care.

SETTING UP THE PRINT

Stage E — Printing Setup

PREPARATION CREATES BEAUTIFUL RESULTS.

21 Cloth Alignment on the Printing Table

The cloth is aligned carefully so the print begins on a controlled ground.

Alignment before stamping.

22 Registration Planning and Guide Placement

Guides help the artisan judge repeat placement, borders and spacing.

Registration by eye and skill.

23 Block Loading with Colour

The wooden block is loaded with colour from the tray or pad for an even impression.

Even loading matters.

24 First Placement and Test Impression

The first impression is placed and checked before the pattern builds across the cloth.

BUILDING THE PATTERN BY HAND

Stage F — Hand Block Printing

PATIENCE IN EVERY IMPRESSION. BEAUTY IN THE WHOLE.

25 Repeated Hand Impressions Across the Fabric

The artisan stamps the block repeatedly to carry the motif across the cloth.

Repetition creates the field

26 Motif Building Through Careful Repetition

Rows, repeats and spacing build the design one impression at a time.

Rhythm and consistency

27 Registration by Artisan Skill

Accurate alignment depends on the artisan's eye, hand pressure and experience.

Registration by hand

28 Additional Blocks / Layers / Colours Added

Separate blocks may add new colours, fills or layered details.

Multiple layers, one design

29 Borders and Secondary Motifs Printed

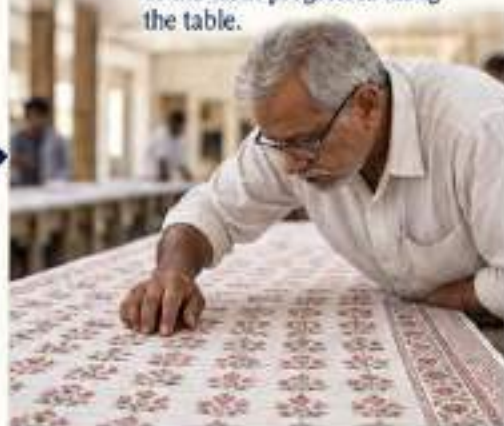

Borders and companion motifs complete the composition.

Main field and border work together

30 Ongoing Visual Checking During Printing

The print is checked continuously as the cloth progresses along the table.

Correction through observation

Every impression builds a larger story.

*Small variations.
Big meaning.
Handmade always.*

Subtle variations in registration, motif placement, colour density and impression are signatures of the hand-making process.

DRYING, WASHING AND FINISHING

Stage G — Drying, Fixing and Finishing

IDEAS TAKE ROOT. TRADITION FINDS NEW EXPRESSIONS.

31 Printed Fabric Drying

Freshly printed cloth is dried so the print can settle before further finishing.

 Drying after printing

32 Washing / Rinsing / Post-print Treatment as Appropriate

The cloth may be washed, rinsed or otherwise treated according to the print route and finish required.

 Process may vary by production route

33 Drying / Curing / Finishing

After treatment, the cloth dried again and finished for a clean hand and appearance.

 Finishing brings stability and presentation

34 Surface Checking and Finish Review

The surface, colour and overall finish are reviewed before the fabric moves to product making.
